

Pollinate Energy – Executive Fellowship Program

13 January, 2014

ABV is excited to endorse the Pollinate Energy Executive Fellowship Program, a month long project in India in June/July 2014. The Executive Fellows will be leading and mentoring a team of social entrepreneurs in addressing energy poverty in Bangalore's urban slums.

Pollinate Energy is a social business based in Australia and India. Pollinate Energy improves the lives of India's urban poor by providing access to sustainable and affordable energy products that make their lives better.

Please note this is not an ABV assignment, but a program that ABV is pleased to endorse and one that we believe would be suitable and worthwhile for ABV volunteers to consider.

For more information and for details on applying, visit the Pollinate website. Alternatively contact Simon Watson, ABV Partnerships Manager, on (02) 6151 9951.
